Above swirling layers of percussion, Levine's trademark bebop lines weave sinuous stories of nights in Rio, Havana, and Harlem. Levine combines the traditions of Cuban and Brazilian music with today's jazz, to produce hook-laden CDs appealing to both jazz and Latin jazz fans.

This CD plays tribute to perhaps the greatest Brazilian songwriter of them all, Moacir Santos; a National Hero in Brazil, almost unknown in the USA.

Personnel:

Mary Fettig, flute and soprano saxophone
Mark Levine, piano
Michael Spiro, percussion
Paul van Wageningen, drums
John Wiitala, bass
